Please Note: It is highly recommended that you use your Home address and email address for your ASCET mailings. Some company mailrooms and email servers consider personal mail as 'Junk' mail that will not be delivered. If you are assured of receiving your mail at your company, you may use that address. If you have not been receiving your mail/email, then please consider using your Home or another email address, such as Gmail.

ASCET has moved to an online membership system. As a member you have secure access to your profile page where changes to your information can be made directly. Please be sure to update your information as changes to your status occur.

If you are a user of AOL, please consider installing another web browser. There are known issues between AOL and our database programming software.
